INDOORWPC TIMBER TUBE

GXHM indoorwpc timber tube series products are rich in various forms, which have a great effect on the beautification of architectural space. They are used widely in modern space. Whether it is in dining and entertainment, or office meeting place, it meets people's psychological need of longing for opening minds and needing privacy at the same time. It is conducive to expanding the horizon, allowing space to be effectively extended and increasing the transparency and agility of the room space.

While maintaining the ventilation and light transmittance of the space in practical applications, the design concept of partitioning is adopted to make space more stereo, that is, it can break the inherent pattern, distinguish the spatial diversity, and make the living room variegated to achieve the mutual exchange of room space.
